

Accomplished in the meeting:

- Discussed what we need to do in order to link react to mySQL, likely using express in order to link mySQL
- Locations page and Postings page should dynamically show all the current things in their associated database instead of being static, so we have to design those pages such that they have some kind of blueprint/mold that will display correctly when the database is connected.

Goals for next meeting:

- Have locations and postings web pages created and linked into the current website
- Have database connected to the website such that processes like register/login is possible as well as the locations and posting web pages can display what is in their appropriate database.
